Bulgaria Emphatic in Regard to Turkey's Reply

WILL NOT RESUME
PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

Turkey Must Cede Adrianople and the Aegean Islands

London, Jan. 30.—When shown the terms of the Ottoman note to the European powers to-day, Dr. Danef, head of the Bulgarian peace delegation, said emphatically, "The Turkish reply is not acceptable. Speaking on behalf of all the peace missions of the allied Balkan nations, I state that the Turkish reply is not of a character to form a basis for fresh negotiations. We have said that Adrianople and the Aegean islands must be ceded and without this the negotiations will not be resumed. Moreover, this session must be made before hostilities are resumed, as the first shot will change our conditions."

THE REPLY DELIVERED.

It Displays a Spirit of Compromise of Trouble.

Constantinople, Jan. 30.—In reply to the note handed to it by representatives of the European powers, the Turkish government displays a spirit of compromise. The response was presented to-day by Mahmud Shekfat Pasha, grand vizier, to Margrave Johann von Pallavicini, the Austrian ambassador to Turkey and dean of the diplomatic corps in Constantinople.

The Porte stipulates for the retention by Turkey of those quarters at the fortress of Adrianople in which the holy shrines are situated, and proposes to leave in the hands of the powers the disposal of the land on the right bank of the Maritza river, which runs through Adrianople, and consent to the dismantling of the fortifications of that city.

The document insists on the maintenance of Turkish sovereignty over the islands of the Aegean sea, because of their proximity to the Turkish mainland, but it intimates the readiness of the Ottoman government to leave the settlement of the insular regime to the powers.

TURKEY MAY BE FACING A GREAT
CIVIL WAR

Those Acquainted With the Situation Think It May Be Far More Serious Than It Has Been.

London, June 30.—Events in the Balkan peninsula are being precipitated with such rapidity that the world may soon be confronted not with the question of peace or war but with a catastrophe which will lead Turkey to civil war.

Those who know the Ottoman empire believe the revolt among the Turkish troops on the Thetalia lines was much more grave than had been gathered from the brief dispatches allowed to trickle by the censor. Similar revolts are expected to occur in Asiatic Turkey, where the element opposing the Young Turks is stronger than in European Turkey.

SUES FOR LOSS OF MAIL.

United States Government Sues Owners of Sunk Steamer.

New York, Jan. 30.—On the theory that the federal limitation of liability statutes, in accordance with which Judge Hough recently issued nominations restraining Titanic survivors from instituting independent damage suits do not apply to damages sustained by the United States Assistant District Attorney Addison S. Pratt yesterday brought suit in admiralty against the owners of the steamship Allegheny to recover $50,000 for the government, claimed to be the value of mails lost by the sinking of the Allegheny in a collision off Cape Henry on February 2, 1912. Judge Hand recently limited the liability of the law in the case of the Allegheny to a fund of $8,024 from the sale of salvage in the possession of the court.

WOULD LET PROFESSIONALS IN.

An English Club Takes Up the Thorpe Incident.

London, Jan. 30.—At the annual dinner of the South London Harriers' club last night, President Willis, who said that the club was the pioneer in international athletics, made the startling proposal that the next Olympic games should be open to both amateurs and professionals.

Without any direct reference to the Thorpe incident, he contended that the line between professionalism and amateurism was sharply drawn in other countries than in England and that therefore England was not in the same position to compete as other countries. He argued that until the professional and the best athletes any country was able to produce were brought together, England's position as the premier athletic country of the world could never again be attained.

Sporting Life, commenting on the Thorpe incident, completely exonerates the Amateur Athletic union of the United States and thinks that its ample apology should be accepted in the spirit in which it was offered. It adds, however, that it was high time for the international Olympic committee to endeavor to evolve a code of honor for the amateur, as there were many competitors, not Americans only, whose status would not bear a strong light.

Captain Jones, acting secretary of the British Olympic association, in an interview considers the American committee guileless in the Thorpe affair, and that the Americans are behaving extremely well in a trying position.

TAFT VIGOROUSLY OBJECTS.

To Philippine Independence in Eight Years, He Again Makes Known.

Washington, Jan. 30.—President Taft in his farewell speech to the Ohio society of Washington last night, vigorously attacked the bill now pending in Congress proposing autonomy and independence in eight years for the Philippines.

"It is possible," asked the president, "that the Democratic party is going to revise the policy that has vindicated itself by 10 years' experience merely for the purpose of conforming to the cobwebbed planks of forgotten platforms. Will they not, before they make such an irretrievable step, obtain reliable information as to the conditions that obtain in the islands? This issue has been relegated to the limbo of free silver or the narrow doctrine of states' rights. Those who continue to give out their lucubrations on the Philippines are now less than those who expect to attend the next inaugural ball."

Speaker Clark, who followed the President, declined to debate with him the Democratic policy of independence for the Philippines.

"I am not going to debate the question of Philippine independence with President Taft," said Mr. Clark. "I have no inclination to make a Philippine speech, and I am not going to do it. I wish we were out of here in as good shape as we were when we got in. But according to the Democratic platform, which I didn't make, we are committed to a policy. I believe that when a man gets alive up to the planks that are in that platform."

President Taft began his address with an eulogy to President McKinley. From praise of McKinley he turned to the Philippines and said in part:

"After three administrations and more have passed, and after two successive presidential campaigns with silence on the Philippines as the issue, the country is asked to make a change. We are asked to meet a recrudescence of opposition to our Philippine policy and the threat to run back the hands of time; to reverse the verdict of a decade and to give up all our achievements for a new experiment, which can only result in confusion and humiliation and involve us in international complications and bring us again with damaged prestige to an abandonment of that policy."

Those of us who, by reason of our information and experience, believe that a reversal of that policy now will lead to national humiliation and embarrassment, should not keep our mouths closed but we have a right to appeal to those who are coming into power in the next administration, the executive and the legislators, to inform themselves well before they depart from a course which has been fraught with the utmost benefit to the people of the Philippine islands. The Philippine islands are not yet ready for self government and no influence could be more detrimental upon their future than the enactment of the measure now pending in the House of Representatives providing for a change in their government."

Senators Burton and Pomeroy and Representative Cannon also made addresses. Justice Day of the supreme court was toastmaster and Justices McKenna, Lurton and Lamar were among the guests at the speaker's table.

The evening Marston drove Superintendent and Mrs. D. L. Morgan to the business part of the city and as usual put the horse in the stable on returning to the institution. His escape was not discovered until ten o'clock he failed to respond to a call bell. A search was at once instituted without avail, but the officers found yesterday morning that the man must have been hiding somewhere in the premises for at seven o'clock yesterday morning a new pair of shoes, recently given Marston, which had been in the laundry when the search began, were gone.

Marston formerly lived in Port Henry and it is believed that he will go to New York state. He is 28 years old and is five feet seven inches tall. STONESHEDS
ENDANGERED

But Firemen Soon Checked Fire on Burnham's Meadow

STOVE WAS LOCATED TOO NEAR PARTITION

Amedo Groce's Place of Business in Smith Bros.' Plant the Scene

Fire again threatened stonesheds in Burnham's meadow last night, when a blaze was discovered around 8 o'clock in the west end of the Smith Bros' plant. A general alarm rung in from box 15 at the corner of Granite and River streets called out the entire fire department, the auto truck leading the horse-drawn apparatus a merry race down through Main street, around Granite street to the scene of the fire. The blaze was confined to the section of the plant occupied by Amedo Groce and the damage will not exceed $100. Loss on the building is covered by insurance and a small loss incurred by Mr. Groce is also protected.

An effort to learn who discovered the fire this morning was unsuccessful. The alarm sounding from box 15 led the firemen to take a circuitous route to reach the shed, as the Prospect street route leading to the meadow would have been followed had the exact whereabouts of the fire been known beforehand. From the box at the corner of River and Granite streets, the firemen were guided to the fire by a thin column of smoke and fire that was then creeping through the roof at the west end of the circular shed, although two lines of water hose were later used to quench the blaze whenever it broke through the roof. While the fight was being waged from the outside, two lengths of hose burst, but the brief delay in replacing the damaged strands did not interfere with subduing the fire. Ten minutes after the alarm sounded the blaze was under control and the all-out signal was given shortly afterwards.

Firemen who visited the place this morning are satisfied the blaze started from an overheated stove which stands in one corner of the office. A partition separating the office from the shed was the first to take fire and through it the blaze communicated to the roof. Just outside the office in the shed, a number of valuable stonesheds in danger of destruction, but the progress of the flames was stayed at the door and the owner's loss in stock will be negligible.

Employees of the Croce company left the shed at the usual hour and so far as could be learned no one returned afterwards. The stove responsible for the outbreak was rather carelessly located, the firemen thought, and once it became overheated, ignition of the paper covered wall only a few inches in the rear was almost certain. Had the fire occurred at a later hour it is impossible to say where it would have been stopped. Last night there was little wind stirring and perhaps for the reason that the fire department made nearly a record run to the blaze, the loss was confined to much smaller proportions than would have otherwise been the case.

This is the third fire within a year that has threatened stonesheds on Burnham's meadow with destruction. Early last spring, one end of the Cutler, Storck & Fay shed was damaged to a considerable extent and only last fall, the Lane Bros' polishing mill nearby was partially destroyed by fire. In each instance the firemen have been able to confine the fire to the building where it originated.

FATHER, JOHN BROWN'S FRIEND

Franklin Hamilton Told Good Sized Audience in Address in Barre.

Before a good-sized audience last evening in the Methodist church, Franklin Hamilton, D. D., LL. D., chancellor of the American University of Washington, D. C., gave a lecture on "John Brown of Ossawatimie," which made the blood of every true Northerner boil with love for that noted liberator.

The speaker went on to tell of the Southern hatred of John Brown and of the fifty years later, as predicted by Wendell Phillips. He told of great battles between the blue and the gray, of the touching scenes of home leaving and returning. The last moments of Brown were very sad, not only for the white but for the negroes, who dearly loved one who was helping to free them. He recently was ordered to pay a certain amount each week in a non-support action brought against him, and the Montpelier authorities telephoned to the sheriff yesterday to have him held until the matter is adjusted.
